

What My Vote Will Mean to me

Voting. Voting is a right we receive when we are a loyal citizen of our country. Since it is an honor to be apart of our country, we should respect this right. If we weren't able to vote or choose what will happen in our lives, what would you think would happen? Who might end up running our country; our precious United States?

My vote will mean three things to me:

To begin, voting will allow me to express my opinion on different issues by choosing who and what I want to vote for. Animal testing, environmental issues, STEAM or STEM, climate change, and presidents, are some examples of what my vote means to me.

Also, I look at the right to vote as a milestone. When I am 18, I will become an adult. When I'm an adult, I will get the right to vote. The right to vote makes age 18 an important milestone for me. My Mom reminds me that this could all change if I make poor decisions in my life and end up in jail because I will lose the right to vote.

Lastly, my vote will allow me to feel free to critique what is going on in our country by voting for politicians who will vote as I would vote. With my vote, I can choose politicians who will continue making good decisions or I can vote to push him/her out of office because they fail. I want to vote for someone who represents me with choices that will affect my life, my security, my lifestyle, and my future income. I want to choose those politicians who will make decisions on issues that affect my country the way I would make them.

In conclusion, you can see what my vote means to me. It's very important and should not be taken lightly. Mom says that driving is a privilege, but voting is a right. I have no intention of losing that right and letting someone other than me make important decisions.
