What my vote will mean to me?

When will you vote? A vote is a very precious thing, a privilege, and honor that Americans tend to take for granted. I will not take my vote for granted. My vote will mean my freedom and my honor. My vote will mean the world to me because my vote matters.

My vote will mean my freedom ,because the person who I vote for will be an extension of myself and who I think is best for the job. The individuals elected to office are there to defend our Constitutional rights or freedoms. They are employed to keep America running well and keep her people happy, healthy, and free. This is why to me my vote will represent the people who will give me my freedoms. Freedom is defined as "The power or right to act, speak, or think as one wants without hindrance or restraint." This means that I will vote for whoever will protect those freedoms the most.

My vote will mean my honor because not all countries of the world are a democracy where everyone can vote. America is blessed to be a country where we are able to choose our leaders. It is also an honor because I have a say, I will get the honor to be a part of who goes into the office. A tradition that many generations have been a part of. This is why my vote means my honor.

In the end, a vote is a very personal experience. It comes down to your individual beliefs and principles , but the experience of voting and having the power to vote is an honor and freedom. A great privilege that makes my heart swell with pride for America. In the words of the national anthem, The Star-Spangled Banner yet wave, O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?" I am proud to be an American and have the right to vote to represent my honor and my freedoms.
